

Albuquerque Citizen.

VOLUME 1.

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1891.

NUMBER 42.

THE CITY BOARD.

A Big Lot of Business Transacted Last Night.

Large Amount of Bills Allowed—New Bills.

M. H. NATHAN WANTS $10000

The board of aldermen met last night in regular session, Acting Mayor Maloy in the chair.

Present—Aldermen: Armp, Bowman, Farr, Hunt, Kaster, Maloy and Miller. Absent—Mayor Saint and Aldermen Gabel.

The minutes of the regular and adjourned meetings were read and approved.

W. B. Childers in behalf of Albert Grunfeld asked an extension of ninety days time in building the cement sidewalk on the Gold avenue side of his property.

On motion of Alderman Hunt, seconded by Alderman Kaster, that Mr. Grunfeld be granted ninety days from the time the last notice was served upon him, provided he enter into a contract with the city to complete the sidewalk in the specified time, otherwise the notice given him remain in effect.

A number of new bills were read and referred to the finance committee.

The following bills were approved by the finance committee and recommended for passage:

Signed drawn for the amounts:
Ignacio Cervantes	$ 13 13
Ed Cooper	15 00
David B. Cooney	18 00
Peter Isherwood	315 50
James Flynn	5 00
Chas Maston	11 00
Roadway & Hermann	86 00
E. L. Booth	18 00
David Denham	61 00
T. A. Grull	275 25
Spitz Bros	18 75
Donald McCall	18 00
William Henderson	24 00
E. G. Rea	23 75
S. R. Hammer	290 00
James Simpson	2 50
E. J. Post & Co.	1 75
J. C. Haidridge	4 00
Ed. Medler	83 33
L. B. Putney	75
Albuquerque Gas Co.	7 00
M. C. Zarbut	4 00
A. W. Cleland, Jr.	2 00
Water Supply Co.	27.42
Thos. Hughes	15 75
B. F. Davis	15 00
Water Supply Co.	5 20
William Hayes	7 50
R. P. Fox	4 00
Will Spiegelberg	56 25
Jose Garcia	5 00
T. J. Shinek	3 50
J. C. Haidridge	27 25
Electric Light Co.	188 00
Schick & Strong	10 00
E. J. Post & Co.	4 40
W. L. Trimble & Co.	39 00
S. E. Rose & Bro.	59 70
The following communication from A. A. Robinson, second vice president and general manager of the Ateshon, Tuxias & Santa Fe road, was read and referred to the street committee.

A. Robinson, second vice president and general manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, was read and referred to the street committee.

ALBUQUERQUE, Oct. 3.

To the Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Albuquerque: Gentlemen—You are hereby notified to construct the viaduct provided for and agreed upon in ordinance No. 112 of the town of Albuquerque, which went into effect November 25, 1890, across the railroad tracks at the point of the extension of Coal street.

The pay roll follows as allowed:

R. W. Hopkins, clerk	$ 50.00
A. C. Briggs, treasurer	25.00
E. W. Doherty, attorney	50.00
W. O. Storer, engineer	150.00
Chas. Maston, marshal	100.00
Frank Van Leuven, policeman	75.00
John Chaverry, fireman	75.00
A. B. Peelly, policeman	75.00
Peter Isherwood, janitor	25.00
Chas. Bohrer, janitor	60.00
William Havel, janitor	24.00
C. N. Tyler, extra policeman dur.	50.00
Chas. O'Donoghue	50.00
Chas. Walther	20.00
P. H. Peterson	20.00

The petition of L. A. Tenser, asking permission to build a one story brick building on Railroad avenue was referred to the fire committee.

The citizens of First and Fourth wards petition the council to place an electric light at the corner of Second street and Roma avenue. It was referred to the street committee.

A petition from the citizens residing on Roma avenue, asking an extension of water main along west of that avenue, from Sixth to Eighth streets, was referred to the street committee.

A petition from citizens residing in north Highlands, asking a sidewalk on the north side of Tijeras from the railroad track east to Arco street, also the grading of Broadway from Railroad avenue north to Carroll avenue, was read and referred to the street committee.

A petition from citizens on north Fifth street, asking for the extension of the water main along said street from Tijeras road north to Roma avenue, was read and referred to the street committee.

A petition from citizens on Fifth street asking for a sidewalk on the west side of said street, between Marquette and Roma avenues, was read and referred to the street committee.

A petition from W. B. Childers, asking that his residence be connected with the sewer, was read and referred to the sewer committee.

Probate Clerk Harris notified the council that a list of the Eastern addition to the town was on file in his office.

STATUE TO GRANT.

Chicago Does Honor to the Hero of the War.

Eloquent Address by Judge Gresham on the Occasion.

REVIEW OF GRANT'S CAREER.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—The great metropolis of the west suspends all the bustle and activity of its business to-day to do honor to the memory of the illustrious citizen soldier and statesman who, next to the immortal father of his country, is enshrined in the hearts and memories of the people, not only of these United States, but of lovers of freedom and liberty the wide world over.

We find that the cost to the city for driver, team and wagon per month, with out cooking the war, and tear to team and wagon, to be $114.30. We are convinced that it would be cheaper to hire a team, wagon and driver for a period of time. If this were to cost the city $100 per day, it would be about $2800 per month, or a saving to the city of over $400 per year.

We therefore recommend that the city sell their team and wagon and dispense with the services of the driver and contract with some one for the use of team and wagon with driver to be furnished for a definite period of time.

We recommend that the salary of the city marshal, or chief of police, be fixed at the sum of $125.00 per month, a d that he receive no fees, all fees heretofore allowed him and hereafter collected, to be paid into the city treasury.

We recommend that the policemen be allowed each $25.00 per month and no fees.

In regard to salaries of other officials your committee is not ready to report and would respectfully ask further time.

Respectfully submitted,
FREDERICK AMZIO, Chairman.
WILLIAM FARR,
LEON MILLER.

The fire committee reported adversely upon the petition of W. F. Treadle for a street sign and that of W. F. Blescoe for the erection of a corrugated iron shed in the rear of his saloon, and also asked that the petition of C. D. Murphy for the building of an abode house inside the fire limits be referred to the city attorney for his advice.

Ordinance No. 132 and 133, creating the office of street commissioner and sewer inspector, were referred to the street committee for the purpose of consolidating the two ordinances, making the office of street commissioner and sewer inspector one.

On motion of Alderman Hunt, seconded by Alderman Farr, that the matter of renting a corral for the use of the city be referred to the proper committee. Adopted.

The mayor referred the same to the police committee.

The matter of paying E. A. Morse the sum of $73.75 on order of Mr. Kierstedt, was laid over without action.

George W. Johnston, lawyer, presented a claim of $1000 in favor of M. H. Nathan, who recently ran into a lot of sewer pipe and injured his leg. Mr. Johnston also presented a claim of Dr. A. A. Allison, for treating a city patient.

The board then adjourned.

ALBUQUERQUE, Oct. 3.

In reply to a letter from President C. C. Hall of the fair association bank, W. F. White, passenger and traffic manager at Chicago, writes as follows:

"What we did in the matter, we did, because we thought it due to the people of New Mexico. At the same time it is gratifying to know that our action helped to make a success of their undertaking. We believe that gatherings of this character have a good effect in the direction of doing away with or harmonizing local differences that may naturally exist, and establishing a condition of things under which the people of the territory naturally work as a whole for the general good, and we hope to see the people of New Mexico continue their work in this direction, and thus see her population and business materially increase in the near future."

"The work of the land court, which I understand is to be commenced next month, is already being looked forward to by a large number of people with more than ordinary interest, and a large immigration will surely flow into your territory as the question of title becomes more and more settled. We shall endeavor to do our part of whatever there is to be done in this direction, and we ask the earnest and hearty cooperation of the people of the territory, that the greatest mutual benefit may be the result."

"In behalf of our management, I again thank you for your kind letter."

Penitentiary Affairs.

The discipline at the territorial prison is very strict now-a-days. The several employees are kept down to a strict performance of duty and infractions of discipline or disobedience of orders are severely punished and if of sufficient gravity with instant dismissal. Some two weeks ago the officers of the institution discovered that a plot was hatching among some of the prisoners for another attempt at escape. Col. Bergman, the assistant superintendent, took charge of the matter and for a couple of weeks kept a sharp watch on the suspected ones. The particulars of the plot are now in possession of Col. Chaves and Col. Bergman and this change for a break has gone glimmering—New Mexican.

When you need a good, safe laxative, ask your druggist for a box of Ayer's Pills, and you will find that they give perfect satisfaction. For indigestion, torpid liver and sick headache there is nothing superior. Leading physicians recommend them.

Army of the Republic. Conspicuous in this division was a little band of veterans, fifty in number, all that survived of the old regiment, the 21st Illinois Infantry. A thousand years ago, these aged and infirm, and some were crippled and maimed, but they marched proudly along between a running cannonade of cheers and shouts from both sides of the line of march. At the head of the little band was a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

The sixth division was composed of veterans and the sons of veterans, and the seventh and last of the division was composed of the sons of the Confederate army, and the feelings that prompted the men who wore the gray to turn out on the occasion were heartily recognized by the spectators.

At the beginning to the end of the parade, a one-eyed veteran, a man of a standard of color. They were the same colors that the hero of Appomattox himself unfurled in front of his headquarters when elected colonel of the regiment.

and it will be an evil day for the nation when its preservation depends upon their patriotism and courage. They are not only the men of the past, but the men of the future, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

Their patriotism and courage have not been deadened by time, but they are the same as the patriotism and courage of the men of the past, and the people of the future will be the people of the past.

F. B. DUNLAP, Commission, Produce & Fruits,

Butter, Eggs, Poultry, Etc.

30 SOUTH SECOND STREET. ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO.

Packer and Shipper of Choice New Mexico Peaches and the Celebrated Mission Grapes. Agent for the New York Grape Basket. The Best Fruit Package made.

Hay, Grain, Flour and Potatoes in Car Lots.

Write for Prices

Place regular orders with me for Fruit and you will be protected in every way. If you have Fruit to consign, send it to me. I can use it to good advantage, if choice, and you will obtain full market value.

For Sale—1,000 Barrels Native Apples, from the best Nurseries in the Rio Grande Valley.

A Car Load Rocky Ford Watermelons and Canteloupes.

Also large consignments of California Fruits.

breadth. Over the body a heavy saddle, the army saddle cloth with stars in the corners, while two holsters for the pistol are on each side, and a tightly rolled blanket is just behind the "saddle." The blanket is sitting upright, his slouch hat well forward on his head and his feet crossed in army boots with heavy spurs fast in the stirrups. The bronze rests upon a stone pedestal with elevated driveway, arched passage, vestibule and stairway.

WE FELL TOGETHER.

In referring to the success of our bridge bond election a few days ago, the Socorro Advertiser says:

"The enterprise of the Albuquerque citizens is always well seconded by the county at large. In voting for bridge bonds the question was carried by a tremendous majority. We wonder if we could carry a like proposition."

In this connection it would be well to remember that the reason why "the enterprise of the citizens of Albuquerque is always seconded by the county at large," is to be found in the fact that Albuquerque always works for the interests of the county, and thus country and city pull together. We are not divided by district lines, nor lines of race or religion; we recognize the fact that we must all stand or fall together, and that the interests of all sections of the county and all classes of the people are identical, therefore if the people of the remotest corner of the county need an appropriation for a new bridge or a better wagon road, they can always rely upon the people of Albuquerque to aid them in their efforts to get it.

But it is not necessary for us to confine our remarks in this line to Iriernia county, for the same policy is pursued by Albuquerque toward the whole of New Mexico, and the most gratifying feature of the situation is to be found in the fact that the example which Albuquerque has set in this line is now being followed by the people of all other sections. Especially is this notable with regard to the press, a few years ago nearly all the territorial papers seemed to think it their duty to cry down every section of the territory except their own immediate localities, but they have nearly all outgrown this, and have come to comprehend the fact that whatever works particular injury to any one section, injures in a general way the whole territory. There is still one exception to this rule, but it is not necessary to humiliate the people of the town in which it is published by calling public attention to its littleness. From Raton to Deming, and from Farmington to Eddy, all the intelligent people and intelligent journals of New Mexico are now working together for the good of the whole territory, and we do not believe that we are trying to take what does not belong to us when we claim for Albuquerque a very large share of the credit for bringing about this better state of affairs.

Young Mitchell, who recently defeated "Reddy" Gallagher in San Francisco in thirteen rounds, is arranging to make a short tour of the western, northwestern and southwestern towns. Jack Dempsey will probably be his sparring partner, a fact that will no doubt make their exhibition highly successful. He will first visit the northern Pacific towns, then the northwestern towns, coming through Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and then back to San Francisco through southern California. He will doubtless stop over in Albuquerque, and will probably give our local sparsers a chance to demonstrate their ability with the mittens. In the combination there will be several heavy weights, and Albuquerque's heavy weight is hereby respectfully requested to get the crump out of his left side and once more put himself in athletic trim. After the tour, Mitchell, with his wife, will visit the eastern states for pleasure. A friend in San Francisco, now doing work on the Chronicle, sends the above news to THE CITIZEN.

White Cap Outrage.

Eight or ten armed men surrounded the ranch house of one of the most prominent stockmen of this county, one night last week and threw stones against the house, calling for him to come out. Fortunately he was not there. This lawless band may as well take notice that no "white cap" business of that kind, nor midnight assassinations will be tolerated in Grant county. Stockmen should organize to protect their lives and property.—Silver City Sentinel.

SEND THE DELEGATES.

The Trans-Mississippi Congress which met in Denver last spring, adjourned to meet in Omaha on the 19th of the present month. We are in receipt of a letter from the Omaha board of trade, asking us to urge upon the people of New Mexico the importance of having a full delegation on hand from this territory. The basis of representation is as follows:

First—Five delegates at large from each state and territory, and one additional delegate for each hundred thousand of the population of each state and territory, and one delegate for each major fraction thereof, to be appointed by the governor of such state or territory, the population being determined by the United States census of 1890.

Second—One delegate for each board of trade, or other regularly organized commercial organization, provided that the said apply only to cities of five thousand or more inhabitants.

Third—One delegate for each railroad or water transportation line operating west of and including the Mississippi river.

Fourth—One delegate for each organization formed for the improvement of western waterways and harbors.

Fifth—One delegate for each state or territorial agricultural society.

Sixth—One delegate by each county agricultural society in counties of fifteen thousand inhabitants or more.

In each case the delegates shall present credentials signed by the proper officers. Among the subjects to be considered by the Congress are the following:

Reports of committees appointed by the congress held in Denver.

"Corn as food; Irrigation and Arid Lands; Deep Water Harbours on the Gulf; Transportation; Commerce in Foreign Countries by American Citizens; Mining, Mines and Mineral Lands; Immigration; Investments by Foreigners; United States Geological Survey; Indian Reservations; Sales of Timber Lands; Bankrupt Law; Admission of Territories; Overflow of Rivers; Canals of Silver; Manufactures in Trans-Mississippi States; Railroads, Waterways, Etc."

Nearly all these subjects are of interest to New Mexico, and some of them of very great interest. In their discussion this territory ought to be heard. New Mexico at large is entitled to some delegates, and one or two of these will probably be appointed by the governor from this county. And we are also entitled to one from the Commercial club, and one from the fair association. We ought to be represented.

Resolutions on Death of Col Wynkoop.

The following resolutions were adopted by Carleton Post, G. A. R., at Santa Fe, at its regular meeting on Wednesday night, the 7th inst:

Whereas, On the 11th day of September, 1891, our comrade, Edward W. Wynkoop, former commander of this post and afterward Departmental Commander of New Mexico G. A. R., died after a lingering illness at his home in Santa Fe.